

Assignment1: Review and Update of Project Material

Objective: Software Requirements & Design

You have been given a project description. Work with your team to understand the requirements to yield a draft set of requirements and questions to understand the requirements.

The requirements you prepared last semester need to be examined and studied carefully. Everything you do throughout the development will rely on these requirements. Also, your final product will be tested against these requirements.

Therefore, it is crucial that the requirements are agreed upon by your team and customer, they are feasible to implement, consistent, and complete as possible.

- Your first assignment is to revise and update your:
 - requirements
 - mockups
 - design
 - project plan
- To be used during our meeting, prepare a list of questions and clarifications to refine the requirements.
- As always, document your group meetings.
- Track your personal tasks & estimated and actual effort.
- Any team member should be prepared to present & discuss your project. Also, be prepared to document the feedback you get from your customer.

All updates must be committed to your project repository.
